To who this may concern

I have lived at [REDACTED] royal Avenue for over 40yrs.

And seen many changes.

The people that took over and turned the building in to the deli and then the fish and chip shop, have made great improvements to what was starting to look an untidy area.

I and my family have eaten in the deli on many occasions for family gatherings and even brought work colleagues to eat there. It was lovely when they did open in the evening and you could go there to eat and have a drink. As calcot needs something like this. There has never been a problem with noise as they were always shut by a certain time. Also they have done a lot for the community by offering free meals for kids when Marcus rashford did the campaign free kids meal during half terms. So as a person that lives [REDACTED] royal ave. I am very much looking forward to this new restaurant opening

Yours sincerely
